Get to know…

Wounds that won't heal can be very serious. They can become infected, resulting in intensive health-intervention processes and even amputation in extreme cases. It is estimated that approximately six million Americans suffer from chronic wounds. That's why the Wound Healing Center in Amery, Wi specializes in helping heal these types of wounds.

A chronic wound is an open sore that hasn't healed within 30 days or longer. Many people develop these wounds due to age, diet, circulatory problems, diabetes, arthritis, kidney disease, smoking, or other health complications. The Wound Healing Center can help with wounds including:

- Diabetic ulcers and sores
- Lower leg ulcers and sore
- Pressure ulcers (bed sores)
- Bone infection
- Skin tears or lacerations
- Gangrene
- Post-radiation burns
- Post-operation wounds/infections
- Failed or compromised skin grafts

The Wound Healing Center has experts in the field and the latest technology equipped to handle many different circumstances. They offer specialized treatment programs and have a 96% success rate of healing their patients within 14 weeks who have open sores resistant to traditional treatment.

Some of these specialized treatment plans include:

- Hyperbaric Oxygen Therapy - an intermittent treatment of 100% oxygen at increased atmospheric pressure, received while relaxing in a transparent, cylindrical chamber. This therapy helps the body kill germs and promotes healing. Patients usually "dive" every day for two hours over the course of at least eight weeks.

- Specific Wound Dressings – dressings chosen based on each patient's individual needs can go a long way to promote healing.
- Wound Debridement – a minor surgical procedure to enhance growth of healthy tissues that leads to healing.
- Transcutaneous Oxygen Monitoring – measures the level of oxygen available to the wound. The more oxygen available, the quicker healing.
- Doppler Evaluation of Pulses - measures the blood flow available to bring nutrients and medications to the wound. The better the blood flow, the quicker healing.

Most treatments at the Wound Healing Center are covered by Medicare/Medicaid, HMO's, and other private insurance plans.

If you suffer from a chronic wound, the Wound Healing Center in Amery, Wi can help you get back to enjoying all the things you love. For more information or to make an appointment, call (715) 268-0175, or visit their website: https://www.amerymedicalcenter.org/locations/wound_healing_center.aspx.
